- Greening Your Office is for anyone who works in an office, both management and staff, from the large offices of global corporations to the person working from a home office.

Description

Greening Your Office shows us why we should green up at work, and covers the many areas where more environmentally friendly initiatives can be put into practice in a simple A-Z format. It includes case studies of successes from offices both big and small to inspire others to follow in their footsteps.

The book shows how, by making small changes, individuals and organisations can:

- Reduce costs
- Reduce waste
- Increase sales
- Create a positive feeling at work
- Do your bit for climate change

About the authors

Jon Clift: Having always been concerned about environmental issues Jon decided to ‘walk the talk’ and took a Masters in Sustainable Environmental Management, working with a major water company for his dissertation. He now works as an environmental consultant.

Amanda Cuthbert started her working life in the theatre before becoming a founder member of Sky Television, writing, presenting and producing programmes. Concerned about environmental issues since childhood, she put her ideas into practice – growing organic vegetables, leaving fields unsprayed and raising sheep, pigs and hens organically. She now works as a writer and editor.

Amanda and Jon have previously collaborated on other environmental titles in the Green Books Guides series: Water: Use Less Save More, Energy: Use Less Save More, Climate Change: Simple things you can do to make a difference, and How To Grow Your Food: A Guide for Complete Beginners.
