

Pilgrimage for Peace

The long walk from India to Washington

By Satish Kumar

Keynote

How Satish Kumar walked 8,000 miles from the grave of Mahatma Gandhi to that of John F Kennedy in a symbolic pilgrimage for peace and non-violence.

Description

Satish Kumar and his friend E.P. Menon embarked on an 8,000-mile peace pilgrimage from India to Washington, from the grave of Mahatma Gandhi to the grave of John F Kennedy. Walking at the height of the cold war, taking no money with them and declining all offers of transport and donations, they talked to heads of state around the world and met with peace activists such as Martin Luther King Jr. along the way. Kumar, author of No Destination and Earth Pilgrim, tells the story of their pilgrimage in this autobiography.

When the philosopher Bertrand Russell was imprisoned for his anti-nuclear activities, this was a call to action for Kumar. If a 90-year-old man would go to jail for peace, what could Kumar contribute to the struggle? So he set out to walk to the four nuclear capitals of the world - Moscow, Paris, London and Washington. A young Georgian woman he met along the way gave him packets of tea to give to the leaders of these countries, so that they would stop and have a cup of tea when they might "get the mad impulse to press the nuclear button". He was determined to deliver a packet of this Peace Tea to each of the leaders.

From New Delhi to Pakistan, Afghanistan, Iran and the Soviet Union, through Poland, East and West Germany, Belgium, France and England, to the US and finally Japan, Kumar and Menon walked for two and a half years. They faced severe challenges – walking illegally without a visa in the Soviet Union, imprisonment in France and experiencing the Jim Crow laws in the USA – but everywhere they were met with incredible generosity from the people who housed and fed them.

Pilgrimage for Peace is a book about trust – in yourself, your companions, and humanity - about confidence, resilience and the courage to stretch your limits. It is an ode to the power and the solace of pilgrimage, to peace, disarmament and hospitality. It is an adventure story that shows how travel can bring people together in hope and help them understand one another. It demonstrates how you don't always need money to see the world, just time and patience.

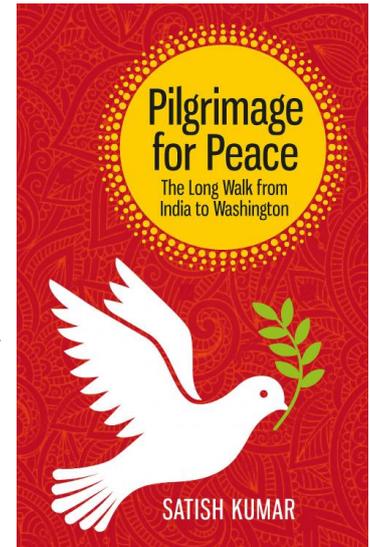

With conflict and war constantly in the news today, this book is a timely testament not only to these pilgrims for peace, but to the many people who cheered them on their way, seeing in them the harbinger of a new peaceful future.

Audience

For those interested in peaceful activism, pilgrimage, spirituality and autobiographies.

Table of Contents

1. Destination Peace
2. Pakistan: The Land of Hope and Hospitality
3. Afghanistan: The Mountains of Magic and Mystery
4. Iran: A Place of Poetry and Passion
5. The Soviet Union: A Land of Power and Promises
6. No Problems in Poland
7. East Germany: Hawks and Doves
8. West Germany: Flowers and Philosophy
9. Beautiful Belgium
10. Fabulous France
11. England: Green and Pleasant Land
12. USA: Prejudice and Prosperity

Published: 27 May 2021

ISBN: 9780857845290

Format: 216mm x 138mm

Binding: Paperback

Extent: 208

PRICE: £9.99

Thema: VX; QRAM2

BIC Code: HRAM2; VX; HRLK; BGXA

BISAC: REL084000; OCC027000;
BIO018000

Keywords: peaceful activism; pilgrimage; satish kumar; autobiography; peace; spiritual; religion; buddhism; no destination; earth pilgrim; you are therefore I am; spiritual compass; E.P. Menon; satish kumar life story; spirituality; buddha; washington; a long walk to washington; eco-philosophy;

Audience: General/trade

Publisher

Green Books

sales@greenbooks.co.uk

www.greenbooks.co.uk

Representation

Signature Book Representation

sales@signaturebooksuk.com

UK Distribution and Wholesalers

Central Books

Gardners

North American Distribution and Wholesalers

Independent Publishers Group

www.ipgbook.com

Ingram

Ireland Wholesalers

Argosy Books

Easons

The Author

Satish Kumar is an internationally renowned speaker on ecological and spiritual issues, and founder of both Resurgence & Ecologist magazine and Schumacher College.

Review Quotes

"Satish Kumar ought to sit on a council of elders, guiding us through real wisdom, to the utopia that his path has shown us is possible."

Russell Brand, Comedian

"Satish Kumar is one of our more remarkable fellow humans. If you don't know his story, now is the moment to learn it!"

Bill McKibben, Climate activist, author of 'The End of Nature' and 'Falter: Has the Human Game Begun to Play Itself Out?'

"With this wonderful book the transcendently inspiring Satish Kumar takes us on a journey where every step is taken with love and compassion."

Gelong Thubten, Buddhist monk and author of 'A Monk's Guide to Happiness'

"A great narrative like this could only have been born by walking a long journey with purpose. In his pure and elegantly simple voice, Satish describes the glorious variety of people and cultures he meets along the way, and how each is on their own pilgrimage to peace. This story is a global treasure."

Dr Guy Hayward, Director and Co-Founder of the British Pilgrimage Trust

"Anybody who has heard the force by which Satish can speak of peace might wonder of its source. This book shows us through the nomad journey of his life and of our times."

Alastair McIntosh, author of 'Soil and Soul' and 'Spiritual Activism'

"The Peace Walk of Satish Kumar, a living legend, is an inspiring and fascinating journey. The book is riveting, original and thought-provoking. His wise, comforting, motivational and spiritually uplifting words will inspire many to 'walk the walk'. Underpinned with practical life experience and lessons, this book is a must-read."

YOGA Magazine

"Satish Kumar literally walks the talk. He lives Gandhi's philosophy: 'Be the change you want to see in the world'. An inspirational, humbling book."

Psychologies magazine

"A pilgrimage, a travelogue and a paean to peace, every step of Satish's vivid journey across a supposedly divided world is a masterpiece of literary reconciliation and hope."

Dr Nick Mayhew-Smith, author of 'Britain's Pilgrim Places'

"Satish Kumar is a real Earth Pilgrim, a lifelong and passionate peace campaigner. This story of his remarkable journey is captivating throughout."

GreenSpirit

"Quietly passionate, gently insistent and manifestly moved by joy and hope, Satish is a living example of putting wisdom to work in all kinds of ways. This book chronicles an enterprise very typical of him – risky, but motivated by the only sort of realism that matters, the realism that confronts the "Emperor's New Clothes" of a stale, frightened and destructive world order and shows how human beings can learn and grow."

Rowan Williams, Former Archbishop of Canterbury

"Satish Kumar's book is an inspiration for all citizens yearning for peace. Satish shares his experiences of love, compassion and generosity as he travelled to Washington without money to stop the bomb. Satish is a tireless pilgrim of peace. His message is more important than ever."

Vandana Shiva, Winner of Right Livelihood Award and author of 'Earth Democracy'

"We can talk about peace, we can write about it. But until I read his wonderful book, I never knew Satish had walked for it too. His whole life has been one long walk for freedom, justice, harmony and peace. Yes, it is an extraordinary adventure, but it is much more than that. His life would be this walk. Here is a book that inspires us to follow in his footsteps, that gives us all hope."

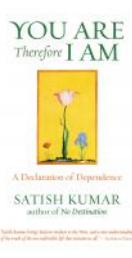

Michael Morpurgo, author of 'Warhorse'

"Satish Kumar's memoir of his 8,000 mile peace walk from India to America is a warmly written, gripping and inspirational tale, offering us all hope in dark times. Never have his message of peace, tolerance and unity been more timely or more necessary."

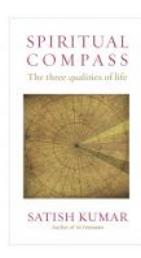

Kindred Spirit magazine

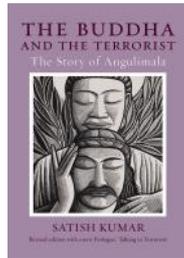

No Destination

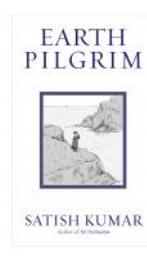

You are
Therefore I am

Spiritual Compass

The Buddha and the Terrorist

Earth Pilgrim